

Hi!

My name is Kate, and this is my best friend, Mack. You might have met us in “Around the World with Kate & Mack: A look at languages from A-Z.” In this book, we travel all around the world and learn about different languages, cultures and people — you guessed it, all the way from A to Z! Throughout our adventure, we learned whether these languages had the full Bible, part of the Bible, or were still waiting for translation to even begin!

But our A-Z adventure isn’t the first. In fact, there were several A-Z style books before ours: “From Arepesh to Zuni” and “From Akebu to Zapotec.” These two books featured 26 languages each — all of which were still waiting for Bible translation to begin at the point of their publication. We call these “Bibleless people groups.”

Perhaps you’ve read one, two or all three of our A-Z books. And you might be wondering, “Do these languages have the Bible yet?” That’s a great question, and we’re glad you asked!

If you’re interested in learning the latest information on these languages and whether they have the Bible yet, there are several websites that you can explore:

- illuminations.bible
- joshuaproject.net

Both of these languages will give you some interesting information about the language you’re interested in learning more about!

Thanks so much for caring about these languages, and for your desire to learn if they have God’s Word in their language yet! Mack and I also encourage you to pray for them, and ask God that if they already have the Bible, that they’d read it and be changed by it. And if they don’t have the Bible, pray that they would get it soon so they can learn about God’s amazing love for them in their own language!

You can learn more about how to pray for people around the world to get God’s Word in their own language at wycliffe.org/prayer. And if you want to learn more about people, languages and cultures, check out our adventures at wycliffe.org/kids.

We hope to see you soon!

Kate & Mack
