

Let's Make a New Tradition!

We all have traditions, don't we? You might not call them traditions, but you probably have some, whether you realize it or not. Traditions are special things that we like to do at a certain time and place, often every year. Maybe your family goes on a vacation to the same place each year, or you get to sleep by the Christmas tree every Christmas Eve.

Then Mack and I started thinking: What's something we want to still be doing when we're all grown up — something that we can do with our own families one day? You're never too young to start a new tradition that you can still be doing in 10, 20 and maybe even 30 years!

Here are a couple ideas to get you started, but you can come up with more on your own! Traditions are a wonderful way to pass on memories from one year to the next. And before you know it, you might have been doing the same thing every year for a long, LONG time!

-  Write birthday cards to friends every year. (You can even write down the names of the people you want to do this for!)
-  Collect different Christmas ornaments from around the world and learn more about the countries where they were made.
-  Pray for a people group to get the Bible in their own language! (You can pick from a list of people groups from all around the world at wycliffe.org/prayer.)
