RANGI; Tanzania (650,000)

The Rangi are mostly farmers and live in the Dodoma area, a hilly region of north central Tanzania. They predominantly follow another major religion, but a small, growing percentage of people are being influenced by Christianity. Due to COVID-19, the Rangi team primarily worked remotely on final linguistic and consultant checks of the New Testament before moving to the typesetting stage.

Prayer points:

- » Healing for the linguist who has worked with the Rangi for many years and now has medical issues that reduce the amount of time he can work with them.
- » Strength and adaptability for a new linguist to learn about the language before doing the linguistic check. Creativity and ability to complete a linguistic check remotely from the United Kingdom. Completing these tasks, which are usually done in person, while working remotely due to travel restrictions creates a challenge!
- » Health for the Rangi translation team and their families.
- » An end to COVID-19 and its challenges that impact the work; the team longs to finish the New Testament.
- » Increased hunger for the Scriptures in the Rangi community; lives to be changed by the power of the Word.

The translation team for this cluster, which is made up of three language groups, is working on a New Testament for each group with the goal of completing the full Bible. This makes the arrival of the New Testament last year all the more important in Yao communities. AKEBU; Togo (70,300)

The Akebu translation team plans to complete the New Testament by the end of 2022. They are working hard to make sure each book is accurate, clear and sounds natural. They want to publish all books on a mobile Scripture app and some selections in print, record nine New Testament books in audio format, and produce Scripture-based radio plays and songs. Having some Scriptures in their language has already had spiritual impact. One pastor commented, "Now we have many more churches in the Akebu region. And the people better understand spiritual concepts — such as who God is and the kind of relationship he wants to have with us."

Prayer points:

- » Successful gathering of the local Akebu association and God's wisdom as they elect new members. Many members are elderly or weak and unable to help the translation team. The general assembly planned for May 2020 had to be cancelled due to COVID-19.
- » Health and strength for each member of the translation team and their families.
- » Increased impact of the Scriptures in the Akebu community so more people are transformed as they read and listen to God's Word in their language. "The unfolding of your words gives light ..." (Psalm 119:130, NIV).

Christians are few, and insurgents threaten their way of life. Praise the Lord for two members of the Makori translation team who, although they had to return to their passport country due to COVID-19, have completed the consultant check of 1 Corinthians and a discipleship booklet, as well as four new oral trauma healing lessons.

NKENISO*; West Africa (2,000,000)

The Nkeniso team is translating the Bible into two dialects spoken by over 2 million people. COVID-19 travel restrictions halted in-person consultant sessions for both dialects last year. The team adjusted to remote checking through Zoom, and they were able to finish checking the Western Nkeniso dialect translation of the Pentateuch. A consultant and an exegete in the U.S., a trainee consultant in the United Kingdom and the team in a village checked Hebrews in Nkeniso in June. The Eastern dialect team consultant checked Exodus and prepared introductions for several books. The team also distributed Scripture portions and related materials at two large events to Nkeniso speakers from around the world.

Prayer points:

- » Seamless publication and distribution of the Pentateuch in Nkeniso West across West Africa and to speakers in other countries.
- » Continued grace to work remotely with consultants and advisers.
- » Open doors for the Nkeniso translators, exegetes and some other national translators to visit Israel in August 2021 to experience where the Bible narratives occurred; this will help in future translation.
- » The Nkeniso community across the world to seek God and find him; God to use available Scripture portions and related materials to bring light and truth to all who use them.

YIBE*; West Africa (15,000)

After completion of the written and audio versions of the New Testament in 2019, the Yibe translation team worked with a typesetter last year to prepare the manuscript for printing. This detailed work, including going through the New Testament text to add orthography corrections discovered during recording, was long and meticulous. COVID-19 delayed choosing pictures and reading through the full New Testament.

Prayer points:

- » Endurance for the Yibe translation team as they work with a typesetter to complete this detailed process and send the Yibe New Testament to the printer.
- » A seamless printing process resulting in a finished product of the highest possible quality. Pray that the published books will be delivered safely, undamaged and in a timely manner.
- » Wisdom for timing and planning of the Yibe New Testament dedication. The team needs to consider several factors, including the completion of the typesetting, printing and the rainy season, which would hinder the ability to hold a large event.
- » The Yibe people to develop a growing relationship with God and healthy relationships with one another through reading and listening to the New Testament as individuals, families and churches.
